Dear Mayor Daley,

Hi my name is [redacted] and I am a third grade student at Ariel Community Academy. My class is working on their Chicago Project on a important landmark in Chicago.

I've learned many of Chicago's nicknames, Sweet Home Chicago, City of Big Shoulders, The Windy City, Hog Butcher, and Urbs in Horto (city in a garden). I've also learned about the Chicago Fire, the Columbian Exposition, and the trading post created by Jean Baptiste Point DuSable in 1772.

My Big Plan is to make cars use less gas. People can trade in their old car for the car that uses less gas. We will need to plan for a lot of money. Car manufacturers will have to make cars that use less gas. I would give the people of Chicago a deal on the price. City stickers could be cheaper for people who drive cars that use less gas. My plan is important because it uses less gas, less pollution, and No Global Warming.

In conclusion, my big plan is to make cars use less gas.

Sincerely,

1305
