Event	Response
Margie has to go to school. School is a mechanical teacher in her home.	Margie hates school. She finds it utterly boring and will do anything to avoid it. She doesn't like doing her schoolwork, either.
Tommy finds an old book about school in the past.	Margie doesn't like it at first. She explains how a man can't teach children because he is not smart, like a robot. After she learns more, she loves the idea of children learning and playing together.
Margie's teacher is partially broken, and her mother has to call the inspector to fix it.	Margie hopes that they will take the mechanical teacher away so she will be able to stop school for a period of time.
