Dear Mayor Daley,

My name is _____ and I am eight. I am in third grade. My class is really great. My birthday is August 29, 2000.

In Social Studies we learned about three things. We learned about Jane Addams. We learned about Maxwell Street. We also learned about the great hotdog.

My big idea for the city is to make double digit roads. I chose this as my big idea because today there is a lot of traffic and cars give off pollution. If you make double digit roads then cars will get where they have to go, and wont give off that much pollution.

My idea might be important to the city because it might help us live longer. It also might help the world be a better place.

Thank you for reading my letter Mayor Daley. I'm glad you took off some of your time to read my letter.

Sincerely,
