What is the theme of the story?

CCSSR2—figure out a theme or lesson.

What is the theme or lesson you can learn from the story?

Acceptance

Which parts of the story did you use to figure that out?

One of the many themes is acceptance, because Brian had to accept that he had just been in a plane crash.

Also, when Brian got hurt by the porcupine he had to accept that he needed better shelter and he had make it.

In Hatchet by Gary Paulsen Gary shows that you need to accept what comes in your path.

In Hatchet by Gary Paulsen, a boy named Brian Robeson gets stranded in the Canadian woods because the Pilot in the plane Brian was in had a heart attack. But the only thing Brian has to survive is a hatchet. A possible theme is acceptance. Because Brian like when Brian had to accept that he had just been in a plane crash. So, he had to accept that he had just been in a serious incident. Brian also had to remember everything slowly.

The other time was when Brian had to accept the pain from the porcupine quills. He had to not accept because there was no body to take care of him.

Finally, in the end of the book Brian learns to have acceptance and find him in the end of the book.

In Hatchet by Gary Paulsen Gary shows that you have to have acceptance. You have to have acceptance because if you do in the end you will be a winner.
