Dear Mayor Richard M. Daley,

How are you doing? We would like to thank you for taking the time to read our letter. Our magnificent idea to make Chicago a better place is to have a kid museum in every school. Here's how our plan will work.

First, we need to call museums to see what they can donate to our museum. Museums have a lot of artifacts, so we know they can spare a few.

Next, we will have every school clean out one classroom to put their museum in. Most schools have an empty room, so we think this will work out.

Then, we will get the items that were donated and divide them up between all the schools. Once the schools get the items, they can put their museum together.

The schools can add to their museum whenever they get new items or make new items to add.

We hope that you like our idea on a kids museum in every school. We have one already at our school and we use it all the time. We know that other students will like using theirs too.

Sincerely,
