Dear Mayor Daley,

I think I know what will drive people into Chicago. I think you should either lower or remove taxes for products that people buy. People don't like it when they pay a lot of money for an item. So, if you lower tax rates in Chicago, more people will start coming into Chicago to get the things they need. They might even decide to live in Chicago, so they won't drive or walk about a mile to get the things that they need. It will also change Chicago because the population will keep growing and growing.

I hope you use my plan in the future.

Sincerely,

Railu School
