

Dear Mr. Mayor,

May 15, 2009

I think we should lower gas prices. I think we should lower gas prices so more people can afford it because we need to get from place to place and transportation doesn't just take you right in front of your house or someone else's house. Chicago will be different because more people will come here to get gas and the city will make more money.

I don't think the city will need a lot of money to do this job infact we don't need any money to do this this job. We just need people, cars and we have to wait for more people to come here to gat gas. Soon it will start to help the economy.

Sincerely,
