Dear Mayor Daley:

I have some great ideas to make Chicago a better place. My idea is to give immigration documents. I have relatives that have been separated. I don't believe that families should be separated. Lots of people are suffering without their relatives.

Another reason why giving legal documents to people is a good idea is because it will make Chicago a city with different nationalities. In the Olympics all different people come to Chicago and will feel at home.

We should have more museums and parks. These are my great ideas for a better Chicago.

Sincerely yours,
