Dear, Mayor Daley,

The reason why I think we should take better care of our world is because when you compare our town to other towns sometimes their towns are cleaner than ours. So one way to make our town better would be to build more shelters for homeless people and to tell them what jobs are open for them to try and get. This is a great idea because this will help raise more money for Chicago, because people might have something they couldn't handle on the streets. If they get the job, they can get paid and pay their bills and get a house and not be homeless anymore. For this to be possible, everyone will have to contribute money into building programs and the shelters and it might take about 1 or 2 years. If you let us do this, it will make our town a better place. Signed, [redacted]

New Shelter.
Grand opening.
