

Places represent values: Making a Cultural Map Key

KNOW WHAT: The values of a culture.
The relationship between a building and the priorities of the people who construct it.

KNOW HOW: Making a map key.
Inferring values from artifacts.
Evaluating values.

- Choose ten buildings in the place you are studying. Choose buildings that show what is important to the people who built it.
- Make or use a map of that place to find the exact locations of the buildings. On the map write numbers from 1 to 10 to show the buildings.
- Then use this chart to make a key.

BUILDING WHAT IT SHOWS ABOUT THE VALUES OF THE Number and Name PEOPLE WHO BUILT IT

1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10

MAKE A CHOICE: Which building is most representative of the culture's values?
Choose the one that best shows what is important to this culture.

BUILDING

WHY I CHOSE IT