

Narrative Writer

ILS3B: I can organize writing about a theme or idea.

Write about a time in Chicago's history.

First, choose a theme, a way of thinking about that time. For example, you could write about progress. You could write about solving problems. You could write about how one person affects others.

Then choose events or persons who help make your theme clear.

Event or Person	How the event or person relates to your theme.

Write the history. How will you make the theme clear from the beginning?

How will you conclude so your theme is clear.
