

Analyze/infer cause-effect relations.

CCSSR1—read carefully to identify/analyze relationships (CCSSR3)

I can identify/analyze/infer cause-effect

Answer these questions about any story.

First, find an important action or choice someone makes.

- ❖ What do you find in the story that tells you what caused someone to do that?
What do you infer caused it?

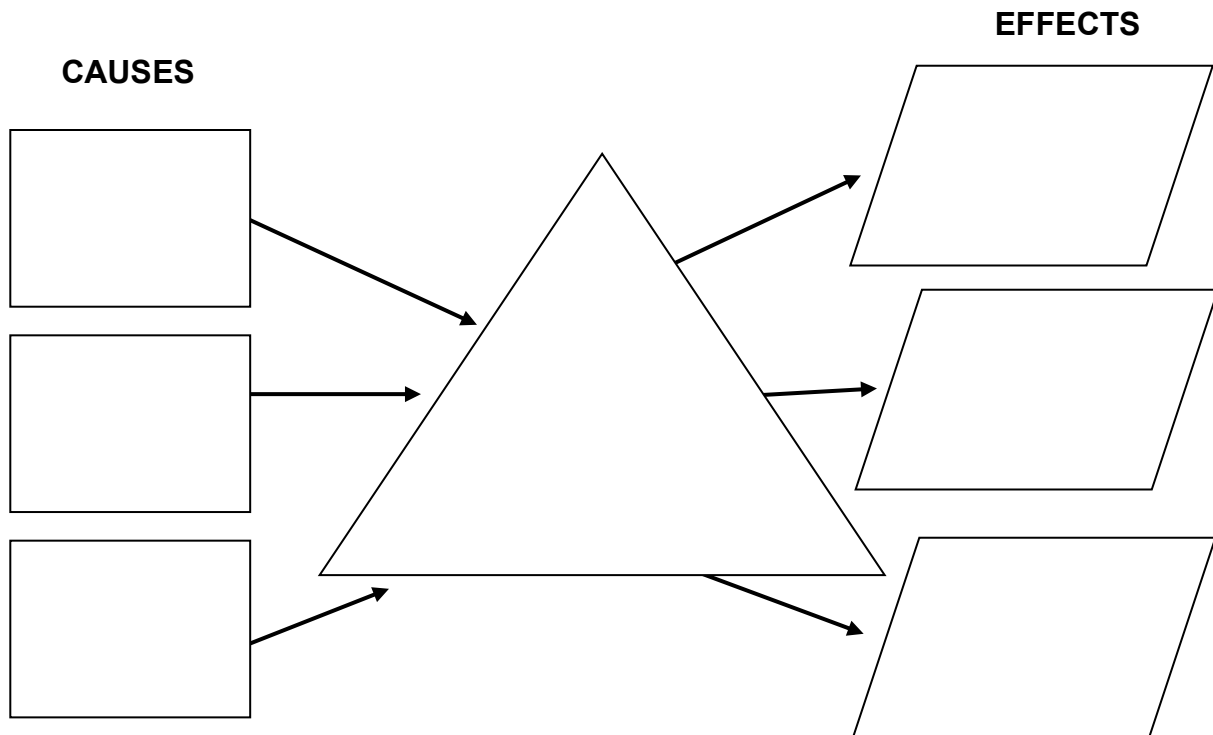

- ❖ What did that lead to—that is an effect.
What does the story say happens because of that action?
What do you predict it will lead to?
What will people do next?

Analyze and Infer Causes and Effects

Write a few words in the triangle that name an event.

Write a few words in the boxes that tell causes of that event.

Then write a few words in the parallelograms that tell effects of that event.

Write what you think.

Explain what you think was the most important cause and why.

Explain what you think was the most important effect and why.
