

CULTURE MUSEUM EXPLORATION GUIDE

Use this guide to think about what the objects tell you about a culture.

Then make your own exhibit—draw picture that show a culture.

You can show Chicago today or the culture you visited at the museum.

Infer Jobs from Objects

"Read" the objects--what do they tell about the work people do.

OBJECT Draw or Name it	WORK PEOPLE DO Infer It

What object would you choose to show an important job in Chicago today?

Analyze Problems and Solutions

What is a problem you think that people in the culture had?
For example, did they have to find ways to get more food?
Did they need to invent a way to travel?

What do you think caused the problem?
For example, did they need to travel to get more food?

What is a solution you see?
For example, do you see what they invented to travel better?
Do you see a way they figured out how to get more food?

Infer Values from Objects

Objects represent values. People take time and other resources to make or buy them.

What object would you use to show an important value in Chicago today?

What value does it show? _____

Picture Culture

ILS5A: I can communicate important information about a topic.

Use pictures to show what these words mean.

Add more ideas and illustrate them, too.

heritage	communication	progress	diversity	community
custom	family	values	community	change
generation	tradition	choices	leaders	work
